

Free Will Moral Responsibility & Agency

All graduate student talks will be roughly 25 minutes long, followed by comments (5-10 mins) and a response (5-10 mins). Keynote addresses will include a talk followed by a Q&A session.

Friday, February 17

---

Keynote Address

Peter van Inwagen

3:15-5:15pm ET

University of Notre Dame

Free Will and Moral Responsibility: Once More Unto the Breach

Saturday, February 18

---

Breakfast

9:00am ET

Huzeyfe Demirtas (Syracuse University)

9:30am ET

Drawing A Line, Rejecting Resultant Moral Luck Alone

Comments by: Benjamin Bush

Anna-Bella Sicilia (University of Arizona)

10:30am ET

"The Patriarchy is Boring": Aesthetic Critique as an Agency-Enhancing Response to Oppressive Double Binds

Comments by: Matt Dupree

Jacob Zimbelman (St. Louis University)

11:30am ET

The Benefit of the Doubt

Comments by: Joe Masotti

Break

12:30-1:30pm ET

Itamar Weinshtock Saadon (Rutgers University)

1:30pm ET

Responsibility, Causation, and Reversing the Order of Explanation

Comments by: Gabe Tugendstein

Henry Krahn (University of Toronto)

2:30pm ET

A Communicative View of Holding Others Accountable

Comments by: Jan-Felix Muller

Keynote Address

Carolina Sartorio

3:30-5:30pm ET

Rutgers University

From Responsibility to Causation

The conference is organized by the Florida State University's Philosophy Graduate Student Association (PGSA) and is co-sponsored by FSU's Congress of Graduate Students (COGS) and FSU's Philosophy Department.

For questions or further information, please contact Zach Smith (zss20d at my.fsu.edu).